1. Call for applications: HHS Summer 2023 Faculty Fellow for Qualitative Research Methods-applications due March 24

I am pleased to invite applications for a part-time Faculty Fellow role in the HHS Office of Research in May and June 2023. The primary task of the fellow would be to gather information and create resources to assist qualitative researchers in meeting open science principles. This will include: (1) generating one or more sample NIH Data Sharing and Management Plan(s) appropriate for qualitative research; (2) providing information on appropriate repositories and ethical considerations for sharing qualitative research; and (3) generating resources related to pre-registering qualitative research. The Fellow may propose the generation of other products as well. (I am currently creating similar resources for quantitative research.)

The fellow will have autonomy to propose their own course of action and will work with the ADR to plan and budget the work. If deemed useful, funds will be provided for GRA support.

Please reach out to me if you have questions about this opportunity.

The full description and application form is attached.

2. Remaining HHS Internal Funding for Research Initiatives; Requests for this year's funds must be received by March 20.

Remember, we have a number of internal research funding opportunities generously supported by Dean Mattacola. Given the source of funds, they must be expended with sufficient lead time to process prior to the end of this fiscal year (by May 26, 2023). Please review HHS internal funding opportunities under the category other; there are many options designed to support various aspects of research. If you have a research need that is not addressed, consider special projects or reach out to me to discuss. Please submit requests that would utilize this year's funds by 3/20/2023.

3. Upcoming Research-Related Deadlines & Events

Deadlines

- o HHS Summer Grant Writing Fellows Program supports faculty in their efforts to submit strong grant proposals. Fellows must identify a mentor, attend a series of summer workshops, and agree to submitting a grant within the following year. Fellows may receive a $4,000 summer stipend. Upon successful grant submission within a year, they may receive an additional $1,000 award and their mentors may receive a $500 award. Applications through InfoReady for summer 2023 are due February 27, 2023 by 5:00 p.m.
- o Undergraduate Research and Creativity Award \(URCA\) Funds help faculty and students partner in meaningful projects in their discipline/field of study. Support can be used for material expenses and/or related travel, or can be used to provide a stipend for the students. Students can earn up to $3,000 (annually) for their work. Faculty can request up to $500 in support of the project.
